Today our Laboratory is leveraging its dual anchor points of pharmacy and the Mediterranean to infuse this marine energy through products and treatment protocols that revitalise the body and mind for luminous and radiant beauty."

Bernard Sirop, Managing Director, THALGO

Thalgo is the original professional marine health and beauty brand and the originator of the marine spa therapy and wellness trend. Based in the South of France, Thalgo has over 50 years of expertise in drawing on the riches of the sea to develop highly effective skincare products, nutritional supplements and exceptional professional beauty treatments for positive well-being.

Thalgo was founded back in 1964 by a French pharmacist conducting research into utilising marine algae to treat medical and cosmetic concerns. The name "Thalgo" is an amalgamation of "thalassotherapy" and "algae" and was first registered in 1968.

Thalgo has its origins in thalassotherapy: the treatment of the body using seawater. It is considered to be so beneficial and effective that it was until recently prescribed by doctors in France as a medical "cure". Initially, thalassotherapy used crushed or pulverised seaweeds, which were then made into poultices, in its therapies.

Thalgo uses many types of different algae in its product ranges which contain high proportions of vitamins, minerals and trace elements renowned for their detoxifying, healing and rebalancing properties and has the widest range of marine-based treatment protocols and products to meet any skin or beauty concern and combines efficacy and well-being Thalgo is available in some of the most prestigious spas and salons in the UK, and worldwide is chosen by over 500 resort spas and thalassotherapy centres and 20,000 beauty salons in 90 countries.

Thalgo is a proud sponsor of The Manta project / The SeaCleaners with a commitment to protecting the environment and oceans depths.
